VIEWPOINTS

In the Door, Not Through the Roof

"If love is not present [in our church], we are wasting our time. There exists in the church the privilege to love. ... We cluster around the Word, and we don't let "the unacceptable" in. So they have to go through the roof. They have to break through. ... We are challenged by the Word of Jesus to make sure that people don't have to break through the roof. Our role is to make it easy. I'm not saying we throw out our fundamental beliefs or any of that—but we have the responsibility to love."

— Dan Jackson, referring to the story of the paralyzed man in Luke 5:18-25, during morning worship at the NAD headquarters on April 25, 2018
