NEWSPOINTS

April 17, 2025

The 2025 Safeguarding Peace training empowered attendees to build safer churches. From Feb. 9 to 11, a small but dedicated group of local church, conference, and union leaders, and lay members, met at the North American Division headquarters in Columbia, Md., for the NAD's enditnow® Safeguarding Peace training on abuse prevention and response. Through presentations, pair and group discussions, and hands-on exercises, attendees were

For years, White Memorial Adventist Church in Los Angeles, Calif., was viewed as the church that did not care. Then everything changed. On Jan. 7, during their week of prayer, Manny Arteaga and his leaders experienced three blackouts from heavy winds. The next morning, they awoke to “images that the city we love, our mission field, our home, was on fire,” Arteaga shared at the 2025 eHuddle — an evangelism/leadership think tank hosted empowered to help make our churches safer spaces. MORE

It began as a small gathering under the trees on La Sierra University's campus in June 2003.

Nine Seventh-day Adventist Ghanaian students and community members formed a Sabbath worship service, bound together by a shared faith, culture, and desire to connect. The small group began holding Sabbath School classes at various locations — first on campus and eventually at a nearby strip mall. Their numbers gradually grew until they had approximately 80 members in 2024. The congregation decided it was time to acquire their own church building. MORE

One Grand Lesson

"One grand lesson should be taught to our children, and that is, freedom from every particle of egotism and bigotry. ... We should educate the children not to be narrow, but broad; and an agony of desire and a wrestling faith should be encouraged, that God will give them the ability to win souls."

— Ellen G. White, Sabbath-School Worker, Oct. 1, 1886, par. 4
